

CUAJ | JAUC

Canadian Urological Association Journal (CUAJ)
Journal de l'Association des urologues du Canada (JAUC)

CUAJ is the only medical journal endorsed by the Canadian Urological Association (CUA).

It is a peer-reviewed, monthly journal devoted to promoting the highest standard of patient care through the publication of timely, relevant, evidence-based research and advocacy information in urology and related specialties. In addition to the variety of items published — original scientific research, reviews, consensus statements, urology techniques, photo essays, research letters, and resident-based pieces — CUAJ continues to be the primary repository for major guidelines and other important practice recommendations.

Print issues are available in February, April, June, August, October, and December. Online-only issues are produced in January, March, May, July, September, and November.

Readership

CUAJ has a print distribution of 2000 and reaches an online community of 6000 Canadian and international readers through its website (cuaj.ca) and electronic table of contents.

Readership includes:

- Canadian urologists (including all CUA members) and Canadian urology residents
- Members of the Canadian Association of Medical Oncologists
- Members of the Canadian Association of Radiation Oncologists

Indexation

CUAJ is covered in the Science Citation Index Expanded (also known as Sci Search) and the Journal Citation Reports/Science Edition provided by Thomson Reuters. It is also searchable on PubMed and full-text articles are found through PubMed Central and on the CUAJ website (cuaj.ca).
