

Neal E. Rowe

Dr. Rowe joined the faculty at the University of Ottawa in 2015 and is the current director of undergraduate urology education. Dr. Rowe is extensively involved in urology education at both the medical school and residency program levels.

His clinical and research interests include adrenal disease, localized and advanced kidney cancer, and surgical treatment of benign prostate enlargement.